The University of Scranton is sensitive to the challenges that families face in financing a college education. We recognize each family is unique and no one financing plan fits all circumstances. It has been our experience that students and parents prefer to be offered guidance in selecting a Family Financing Plan (FFP). Please refer to your Financial Aid Notification Letter for your personalized FFP. If you have not yet filed a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA), you would not have received a letter. To help develop your own plan, use this information piece to calculate the costs and determine the financing.

The University of Scranton recommends students and their parents develop a financing plan for all expected years of attendance. Whenever practical, students and parents should pay as much of the remaining educational expenses from savings and current income; therefore reducing the total amount financed. The University of Scranton recommends families apply for the ECSI Payment Program where monthly payments can be made instead of making lump sum payments. Students apply for the Federal Direct Stafford Loan Program by filing the FAFSA. Parents apply for the Federal Direct Parent PLUS Loan program to meet the remaining expenses or part of the expenses. Student and parents review alternative loan programs. Families can do a combination of a payment plan and loans to reduce the debt. Specific information on each program and application procedures are posted on our Web site.

We want to assure you that the counseling and support available through our Family Financing Plan does not end with the start of the freshman year. We work with families right through to graduation.
