The Commonwealth Medical College
The University of Scranton’s Panuska College of Professional Studies and The Leahy Community Health and Family Center

Invite you to attend a special Global Health Lunch Lecture:

Relief Medicine after Natural Disasters

With

Vladimír Krčméry, MD, PhD, ScD, FRCP, FACP
Professor and Dean, School of Public Health, University of Trnava, Slovakia
Former Rector, Saint Elizabeth University of Health and Social Sciences, Slovakia

On

Monday, March 5, 2012 from 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

In

Lecture Hall 2001
The Commonwealth Medical College
525 Pine Street, Scranton, Pennsylvania

Please join us for this educational event to explore disaster medicine and effective international responses to global health crises after earthquakes, hurricanes, tsunamis and floods. Dr. Krčméry will lead an engaging and inspirational talk directed at action.

RSVP by Friday, March 2nd to Ms. Joanne Reichle via e-mail at: ReichleJ1@scranton.edu

Sponsored by The University of Scranton’s Department of Health Administration & Human Resources through the federal Health Profession Education & Training Grant.

About our speaker…

Dr. Vladimír Krčméry is a Slovak infectious disease physician and scientist, specializing in tropical medicine.
He is a Professor of Medicine and Dean, School of Public Health, at the University of Trnava in Slovakia, where he is also responsible for providing comprehensive pharmacological clinical services for two hospitals.
He is the founder and former rector of Saint Elizabeth University of Health and Social Sciences in Bratislava.
He is a 1985 graduate of the Medical Faculty of Comenius University in Bratislava and a 2007 recipient of an honorary doctoral degree from The University of Scranton. Dr. Krčméry is triple boarded in Internal Medicine, Medical Oncology and Infectious Disease. With his Tropic Team from Saint Elizabeth, Dr. Krčméry has established 53 medical mission sites in the poorest countries in the world. He is a prolific writer with citations in over 1,000 publications. He served as a Lieutenant in the Slovak Medical Military Corps and is fluent in English, German, Russian and Italian.