Program attrition/retention rates

For the Class of 2015, all but two students graduated in four or five years, with one changing out of the major. The two students decided to leave the University during their first year. It is rare for students not to complete our program successfully; however, on occasion during any given AY, some students may change their major, be dismissed, or withdraw for financial or other reasons.

Acceptance into higher degree programs (master's, doctorate)

For the Class of 2015, approximately 56% of our B.S. graduate respondents reported attending higher degree programs. Note that some of the other graduates may not have pursued higher degrees, so this should not be construed as a typical "acceptance rate." Additional information about such student outcomes per class year is available here.

Job placement rates, especially in human services-related occupations

For the Class of 2015, of those who responded to the survey (N = 34) and were not enrolled in higher degree program (N = 15), 10 were employed full-time. No information is available about the remaining five. Additional information about such student outcomes per class graduating year is available here.

CHS program advisory committee and further evaluation processes:

Summaries of available evaluative surveys are distributed at yearly advisory committee meetings and the CHS Program Director leads a follow-up discussion. Also, selected course syllabi are shared with the committee for input and course improvement suggestions. Outcome data related to other selected components of the program is addressed at each meeting (e.g., internship process, student evaluation process, employment outcomes, service learning, accreditation, etc.) so that we can obtain feedback and direction from members, which include faculty, current students, alumni, and agency partners. Comprehensive minutes are taken at each advisory committee meeting.
