UNSTABLE ANALOGIES

LGBT Anti-Discrimination Law in Brazil and the (Non) Intersectionality of Human Rights

Dr. Jay Sosa, Bowdoin College

From 2001 to 2019, Brazil’s LGBT movements campaigned to enact anti-discrimination protections based on sexual orientation and gender identity. This talk explains how their comparison of homophobia with racism proved unstable analogies, cultivating different ethical questions about racial, gender, and sexual justice.

Thursday, Dec. 9
7:30 PM

scranton.zoom.us/j/97107855179

CO-SPONSORED BY THE PROGRAMS IN LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES AND WOMEN’S AND GENDER STUDIES