Why Choose Scranton Psychology?
Choose Scranton for Individual Attention

- Small classes and seminars
- Award-winning professors
- Mentoring:
  - Student research
  - Teaching assistantships
  - Internships/field experiences
- Personal advising:
  - Individual advising with Psych faculty
  - Career development seminar
Dr. Bryan Burnham works with undergraduate students in psychology laboratory courses to replicate studies published in academic journals.
Political Psychology Honors Course Field Trip
Mentoring in Research

- Faculty-Student Research Program
- Presidential Summer Research Awards
- Student conference presentations
- Student co-authors of publications
- PRIME (Psychology Research Immersion)
Faculty and Students present at the Eastern Psychological Association (EPA)
Scranton Students & Faculty Present Research Around the Nation
Teaching Seminar & Student-Faculty Teaching Mentorship Program
Career Development Seminar
(Fall semester of junior year)
Internships for Credit

Field Experience in Clinical Settings
Students placed for academic credit in child treatment centers, psychiatric hospitals, mental health centers, substance abuse clinics, partial hospitalization programs, school districts, autism services, forensic prisons, residential facilities, group homes, and more

Field Experience in Applied Settings
Student placements in personnel offices, speech and language centers, aging agencies, wellness programs, institutional research offices, sports education, women’s resource and advocacy centers
Award-Winning Professors

Two Carnegie Pennsylvania Professors of the Year

Two Univ of Scranton Provost Teaching Awards
Choose Scranton for Flexibility

Pursue what interests you

➢ Courses and opportunities in:
  o Cognitive Psychology & Behavioral Neuroscience
  o Social, Developmental, & Evolutionary Psychology
  o Clinical, Health, & School Psychology

➢ Double majors & minors

➢ Honors programs

➢ Study abroad

➢ Summer placements
Cognitive Psychology & Behavioral Neuroscience

Some of our courses in these subjects:
- Behavioral Neuroscience
- Psychology of Language
- Cognitive Psychology
- Psychopharmacology
- Cognitive Neuroscience
- Sensation & Perception

(The Psychology Department co-manages the Neuroscience Major)
Social, Developmental, & Evolutionary Psychology

Some of our courses in these subjects:
Social Psychology
Childhood
Adulthood & Aging
Evolutionary Psychology
Industrial/Organizational Psych
Environmental Psychology
Psychology of Diversity
Clinical, Health, & School Psychology

Some of our courses:
Personality
Abnormal Psychology
Health Psychology
Psychological Testing
Clinical Psychology
Child Clinical Psychology
Cognitive-Behavioral Tx
Minors & Concentrations Galore

The Department recommends that psychology majors have a minor or concertation to organize their electives, enhance their marketability, and match their career interests.

50+ possibilities, including Business, Human Services, Criminal Justice, Pre-Law, Education, Biology, and so on

P.S. Psychology faculty coordinate 3 concentrations: Human/Lifespan Development, Environmental Studies, & (new) Integrative Data Acumen
Apply Your Knowledge
in Community-Based Learning Experiences
Choose Scranton for Leadership Opportunities (and Fun!)
3 Student Clubs

Annual Welcome BBQ

Christmas Tree & Toy Drive

Psychology Club
Psi Chi International Honor Society
Kids Judge! Neuroscience
Annual Senior Social
“Why I chose Scranton Psych”

Our alumni speak...
Karen Hudzinski ’11

M.S. in Consumer and Industrial Psychology, Cleveland State University

Current Position: Manager, Consumer Insights and Customer Engagement, Macy’s

“One highlight of my experience as a psychology major was the time I spent on research projects with my mentor.”
Jennifer McLaren ’07
Psy.D. in School Psychology, Alfred University
Current position: Director of Outpatient Services, Center for Autism
Licensed psychologist, Certified School Psychologist

“Scranton is unique because faculty regularly mentor undergraduates as research and teaching assistants; opportunities that may not be available at larger universities with grad programs.”
Ryan Pohlig ’05
Ph.D. in Research Methodology, University of Pittsburgh
Current Position: Manager, Biostatistics Core, College of Health Sciences at the University of Delaware

“I fondly recall the interactions shared with Psych faculty members, who treated the students with a respect and dignity not often found in higher education.”
Laura Rozelle ’14

Ed.M. in School Psychology, Columbia University

Current Position: School Psychologist, MaST Community Charter School

“My time at Scranton continues to impact my everyday life in the critical thinking skills and scientific methods taught to me.”
Allison Smith ‘06
Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology, University of Rhode Island
Current position: Attending Psychologist, Mayo Pediatric Pain Rehabilitation Center / Clinical Faculty, Harvard Medical School

“As a student at Scranton, I felt like I was part of something bigger than myself. In this department... it felt like being part of a family.”
Choose Scranton for Impressive Outcomes

U of S psych graduates immediately go to:
• full-time employment (50%)
• graduate school (50%)

Flexible curriculum & individual mentoring lead to impressive career outcomes!
Learning & Success

♦ Our graduates’ knowledge of psychology = 75\textsuperscript{th} percentile nationally
♦ Half of psych majors serve as Teaching Assistants
♦ Our majors grade the overall psychology program a 3.5