OUTCOMES
Someone with an advanced degree may find themselves in a wide range of upper-level career paths including but not limited to:
- Asset & wealth manager
- Securities, commodities & financial services sales agent
- Financial advisor
- Financial analyst

FILLING A GROWING NEED
Employment growth for financial analysts is projected to grow by 12 percent from 2014 to 2024, faster than the average for all occupations. Factors driving the growth include more financial products available and the need for specialized knowledge to manage intricate investment portfolios.

According to the CFA Society’s 2016 Financial Compensation Survey, the median compensation of a financial professional with a graduate degree is $119,000, about $45,000 higher than that of a professional with a Bachelor degree. Moreover, the median salary of a professional with a graduate degree and a CFA designation is $226,000, roughly $151,000 higher than the median salary of someone with a Bachelor degree only.

AACSB Accreditation
The Kania School of Management is fully accredited by AACSB International (Association to Advanced Collegiate Schools of Business). We are the only university in Northeastern Pennsylvania to receive this accreditation. Worldwide, only five percent of business schools are accredited by AACSB. AACSB accreditation is a seal of approval that reflects the high quality of a business school. Evaluation is done every five years including self-evaluations, peer reviews, committee reviews, faculty qualifications, and curricula.
