

The Intersections of Sexual and/or Gender Minority Identities with Cultural Competency

Sponsored by the Physical Therapy and Occupational Therapy
Departments at The University of Scranton

Save the Date

Wednesday, November 28th 2018
2:30pm-4:30pm or 6:00pm-8:00pm
2 Contact Hours

Location:

The University of Scranton
Brennan Hall 228, Madison Ave

Presented by

Karla A. Bell, PT, DPT, OCS, GCS

Course Description: This session will provide the foundation for culturally sensitive communication with/about our patients who identify as sexual and/or gender minorities. This session will review cultural competency from the life course perspective and incorporate the health professional's duties and responsibilities as outlined by Core/Ethical Principles and patient-centered care outcomes. We will cover respectful language and situational conversations, links to how our patient-therapist interface may contribute to continued health disparities, and a look at resources available for practicing clinicians and practitioners.

Registration Required: <https://goo.gl/forms/g2e1WVM1ypG2XUqm1>