

Assistance for Admitted Students with Academic Needs

Policy:

The University is committed to helping students who have demonstrated achievement and a desire to attend college but who need to improve their academic skills. Academic Development Program (ADP)

Procedure:

Students must successfully complete all of their ADP courses, Education 113, Writing 105, and Communication 100, during their initial fall semester in order to progress into the next semester. Implementation Issues: Successful completion requires a minimum grade of C. Those students who do not successfully complete all ADP courses will need the permission of their college Dean, who will consult with the Director of ADP, in order to continue their studies at the University of Scranton. If permission to continue is granted, students will be on probation, and they must repeat as soon as possible any course not successfully completed.
