Commencement Speakers Look Back, Look Ahead

For the former President of the University, it was a time to look back.

For the current President of the University, it was a time to look ahead.

For the 1,044 graduates of the class of 2004, it was the time they had looked forward to.

The University's one hundred and fourth commencement was filled with reflections and celebrations, words of thanks, observations and an invitation.

During the Commencement Ceremony, held May 30 at Wachovia Arena, the University conferred 843 bachelor's degrees, 195 master's degrees and six associate's degrees.

Rev. Joseph M. McShane, S.J., President of Fordham University and former President of The University of Scranton, gave the principal address. In his remarks to the graduates, Fr. McShane reflected on his years at the University, a timeline that paralleled that of the Royal Class of 2004 from their freshman to senior years.

"You are the reason for the sense of joy and honor that I feel at this moment," said Fr. McShane. "For you see, the fact that I have just become a member of your class makes my heart sing. I am more grateful than I could ever say to be counted among your number."

In recalling the events of September 11, 2001, Fr. McShane commended the students, saying, "...you showed yourselves to be men and women of mature wisdom, deep compassion and strong and steady faith."

In addition to delivering the keynote address, Fr. McShane received an honorary degree from the University, as did Patrick A. Toole, James W. Dyer '66, Jane E. Oppenheim, Colleen Kelly and William H. Finn '67, posthumously.

University President Scott R. Pilarz, S.J., also addressed the graduates and their families and friends. He offered words of thanks to the honorary degree recipients "who enrich our celebration," to faculty who "change the lives of students" to parents and families of graduates and to the graduates themselves "for the mark that you have made on your alma mater."

Fr. Pilarz also offered what he referred to as an observation, noting that "there is something rare and precious about this place (the University)." He concluded his remarks by inviting the participating students to "Take Scranton with you" and to "come home to Scranton."

The University awarded 1,044 bachelor's, master's and associate's degrees during its 104th Commencement.

"Always view the world and your place in it from the Scranton perspective; let the magis permeate your life and, please, never compromise your commitment to the service of others and the greater glory of God."

Rev. Scott R. Pilarz, S.J.
President, The University of Scranton

"Here at Scranton, you have learned lessons and developed qualities of heart and mind that have prepared all of you to participate in the great struggle of our age, the struggle not merely aimed at eradicating terrorism, but of creating a more just and peaceful world."

Rev. Joseph M. McShane, S.J.
President of Fordham University and former President of The University of Scranton

Students Embark on Service Trips

The University's Center for Social Action and Service Initiatives has planned and coordinated four international service trips this summer. Students, accompanied by staff and/or faculty members as chaperones, are traveling to Kenya, Mexico and Ecuador to help those less fortunate.

Four students, Anthony Giancatarino, Kate Redmond, Steve Clark and Ann Marissa Ambacher, are visiting Kenya for three weeks in June. Tata Mbugua, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Education, will accompany the students on this first international service trip to her native country. While in Kenya, the group will be hosted by Hekima College – Jesuit School of Theology, Catholic University of East Africa, Nairobi. The trips include visits to social development projects of both the host Jesuit province and other community-based entities including an orphanage, hospice and community outreach program for HIV-positive orphans, Jesuit Refugee Services, and Catholic Relief Services. The trip participants will also visit and meet with faculty and students at Kenyatta University, Nairobi University, and Catholic University of Eastern Africa.

Two Professors Receive Fulbrights

Two University of Scranton professors were recently named Fulbright Fellows – Satya P. Chattopadhyay, Ph.D., Associate Professor of Management/Marketing, for the Ukraine, and Roy P. Domenico, Ph.D., Associate Professor of History, for Italy.

A previous Fulbright recipient, Dr. Chattopadhyay will study the rapidly integrating European market and establish contacts between the University's Kania School of Management and the National University of Kyiv Mohyla Academy, which was established in 1615. His Fulbright Fellowship in 1999 allowed him to lecture and conduct research in the Kyrgyz Republic.

Dr. Domenico will research Italian-Catholic political culture during the Cold War.

"I feel honored to be able to represent the spirit of Senator Fulbright's goals for the program," says Dr. Chattopadhyay. "I am excited to be at the National University of Kyiv Mohyla Academy for my second Fulbright assignment. It is a very old institution with a very modern business school."

Dr. Domenico plans to spend the spring 2005 semester in Rome, Italy.

"The Fulbright is one of the most important awards that a historian can win," says Dr. Domenico. "It is a great honor that recognizes my work and brings

Teacher of the Year Award Presented

Kathleen K. Montgomery, D.Ed., is congratulated on being named the Teacher of the Year by University President Rev. Scott R. Pilarz, S.J.

Kathleen K. Montgomery, D.Ed., Associate Professor of Education, has been selected Teacher of the Year by the University's graduating class of 2004. The award was presented during Class Night, May 29.

The Teacher of the Year Award, instituted in 1996 by the academic support committee of the University's Faculty Senate, honors a faculty member who maintains high standards of academic excellence and fairness and who, through enthusiasm and dedication, inspires interest in a given field of education. Dr. Montgomery was chosen by secret ballot by the University's senior class.

"The teaching and learning process is a collaborative journey and one I am honored to have taken with these graduates who have taught me as much as I have taught them," says Dr. Montgomery. "I am deeply moved by this award and am thankful to have students like the ones at The University of Scranton who are bright, service-oriented and who are already proactive contributors to our world."

The Teacher of the Year Award is one of three teaching awards presented annually by The University of Scranton. The other two are the Edward Gannon, S.J., Award for Excellence in Teaching, established by Alpha Sigma Nu, the National Honor Society for students in Jesuit colleges and universities, and the Professor of the Year Award, sponsored by the Council for Advancement and Support of Education (CASE).

Dr. Montgomery joined The University of Scranton in 1998 as an Assistant Professor of Education. She was named Associate Professor of Education in 2001.

Prior to joining the University, Dr. Montgomery was Assistant Professor of Education at Elmira College, Elmira, N.Y., and Assistant Professor/Supervisor of student teachers at Pennsylvania State University, University Park.

Dr. Montgomery was co-recipient of a Pennsylvania Higher Education Technology Grant for performance assessment of students through technology, and co-recipient of a cooperative endowment grant for The University of Scranton and Marywood University Speaker Series. Dr. Montgomery has written two books, the most recent, co-authored with Dr. David Wiley, on creating electronic portfolios.

attention to The University of Scranton History Department and the Italian Studies Concentration."

Dr. Chattopadhyay joined the University's faculty in 1990 as an Assistant Professor of Marketing/International Marketing. He was promoted to Associate Professor of Management/Marketing in 1997. Dr. Chattopadhyay has been a regular visitor to the Kyrgyz Republic, a Central Asian state located north of Afghanistan since 1993 and provides a graduate seminar in quality management techniques every year at the Academy of Management in that country. In 2001, he was selected as one of a handful of faculty members from 26 Jesuit universities to teach a summer MBA program at Peking University, Beijing, China. He has also established an informal faculty exchange program with the School of Business of the Remnin University of Beijing, China.

Dr. Domenico has been a member of the university's faculty since 1997, when he taught as an Assistant Professor. In 1999, he was promoted to Associate Professor. His major field of study is 19th and 20th century Europe, with emphasis on Italy and Catholic nations. He is currently publishing an article on his Fulbright topic in the journal Diplomatic History. He plans to publish his research findings in what will become his fifth book.

Congress established the Fulbright program in 1946 "to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and people of other countries." It is named after the late J. William Fulbright, the U.S. Senator who sponsored the program. Fulbright Fellowships are awarded through a competitive application process.

Two trips to Mexico are planned with six students each, for approximately 3 1/2 weeks. While in Mexico, students will work with the Salesian order of priests in a home for boys from troubled families located in Mexico City. Students on the first trip (June 3-29) include Theresa DeLaurentis, Will Dennis, Ann Flynn, Dan Nelson, Eileen Webster and Sarah Werther. They will be accompanied by chaperones Jen Valtos '02, Assistant Director of Residence Life, and Rebekah Ferguson '01, Admissions Counselor.

The second trip leaves the United States on June 29. Participants include Drew Davis, Maria Hundersmarck, Mike Jenkins, Scott Leuchten, Ana Mojtahedi and Jill Sommerville. Chaperones are Adrienne Hamson '01, Admissions Counselor, and Ann Scarp '03, Annual Fund Officer.

Two alumni chaperones will remain in Mexico to work with both groups: Angelo (AJ) Rizzo '03, and Patricia Dougherty '00.

Nine students and one chaperone will visit Ecuador for 10 days beginning June 28. These students will be working in schools and at Hansen's Hospital for lepers with an organization called Rostro de Cristo (Face of Christ). Rostro de Cristo is located in Duran, Ecuador, and the program is hosted by a school named Nuevo Mundo. The experience allows students an opportunity to work with the poor in several locations, including schools and hospitals. Students include Katie Barnes, Nick Costanzo, Lauren Fontain, Jill Giresi, Sarah Hayes, Dan Kiers, Kelly McGuire, Cheryl Mrazik and Christina Smith. They will be accompanied by Karen Cashin, Area Coordinator, Residence Life.

O'Hara Awards Presented at Alumni Reunion Weekend

The University of Scranton presented Frank J. O'Hara Awards to nine people during Alumni Reunion Weekend, June 11-13.

The O'Hara Awards are the highest honor bestowed jointly by the University and its 38,000-member Alumni Society. They recognize alumni and others who have achieved distinction in their professions or personal endeavors. The awards are named for the late administrator who served the University with love and devotion for 53 years.

Transitional DPT Degree Being Offered

The Department of Physical Therapy at the University has received authorization from the Pennsylvania Department of Education to begin offering the Doctor of Physical Therapy degree. The current M.P.T. program is being phased out and replaced by a three-year, post-Baccalaureate D.P.T. program – the first doctoral-level program to be offered by the University.

As the first step in phasing in the new D.P.T. program, the Department of Physical Therapy will launch an entirely Web-based transition Doctor of Physical Therapy (tDPT) degree program designed specifically for practicing clinicians beginning this fall. The tDPT degree enables licensed physical therapists to bridge the gap between their professional master's degree in physical therapy education and the current entry-level clinical doctorate (DPT) education.

The tDPT degree requires 16 credits beyond an entry-level master's degree in physical therapy. The program consists of four Web-based courses (4 credits each) in the areas of evidence-based practice, pharmacology, pathology and diagnosis. All courses are presented entirely online with optional on-campus discussion/review sessions offered one or two times each semester. Each course also includes a clinical case-based research component.

Applicants must possess a valid physical therapy license and have at least one year of clinical experience as a physical therapist. Applicants with an entry-level baccalaureate degree or certificate in physical therapy will be assessed on a case-by-case basis to determine the prerequisites for entry into the program.

For more information on the tDPT program, contact James L. Goonan, Director of Graduate Admissions, at 1-800-366-GRAD.

Alumni Mall Launched

With the assistance and expertise of Business Leadership students in the Kania School of Management, the Affinities/Visibility/Promotions (AVP) Committee of the University's Alumni Board of Governors has launched a Web site to market exclusive merchandise to Scranton alumni.

The Scranton Alumni Mall Web site, located at www.ScrantonAlumniMall.com, is an online store that will market licensed merchandise to alumni bearing the University's federally registered trademarks and other University logos.

The Scranton Alumni Mall can be used by alumni, students, faculty and other affiliates of the University. The site operates independently from the University Bookstore and is dedicated to providing quality merchandise as a way to build a strong alumni community and to raise revenue for alumni services.

John Lanahan '84, is Chairman of the Alumni Board's Affinities Committee.

Events Mark National Nurses Week

The University presented the Making a Difference Award to a local nurse during National Nurses Week in May. From left, Sharon Hudacek, Ed.D., Associate Professor of Nursing; Francine Pietrowski, LPN, award recipient; Deborah Zielinski, Nursing Lab Director, Patricia Harrington, Ed.D., R.N., Associate Professor and Chair of the Nursing Department at the University.

In celebration of National Nurses Week, May 6-12, the University presented its Making a Difference Award to Francine Pietrowski, LPN, Moses Taylor Hospital Regional Dialysis Unit. Ms. Pietrowski is being honored for her exceptional caring and dedication to her patients and their families over her 27 years as a nurse.

The Making A Difference award is given during Nurse Week to honor a nurse who has experience in caring for patients and has demonstrated clinical excellence. It is for a nurse who has dedicated him or herself to clinical practice and truly has touched many lives.

The Nursing Department also hosted an open house on Tuesday, May 4. At the event, Morgan Hillery, a sophomore nursing student from Berne, N.Y., received an award from the department. Ms. Hillery's essay on what it means to be a nurse was the winner in a writing contest for nursing students sponsored by the Nursing Department.

Students Named to Dean's List

The University has announced the Dean's List, which recognizes students for academic excellence during the spring 2004 semester. In order to be named to the Dean's List, a student must have a grade point average of 3.5 or better with a minimum number of credit hours. The list includes students from the University's four undergraduate colleges: the Panuska College of Professional Studies, the College of Arts and Sciences, the Kania School of Management and Dexter Hanley College.

The University's Graduate School Employment Rate Highest Since 1999

The results of a University of Scranton post-graduation survey of graduate students from the class of 2003 reveal that 99 percent are either employed or pursuing additional education within six months of graduation.

The survey is based on responses received by 54 percent (116) of the 215 students who earned graduate degrees from The University of Scranton in 2003.

The average (mean) salary reported is $47,747, based on the 86 graduates that provided salary information. Most salaries reported are in the range of $50,000 to $54,000.

Ninety-four percent of respondents are employed full-time, three percent are employed part-time and two percent are pursuing additional education. Only one percent reported being unemployed, which is the lowest level reported since the university's class of 1999.

"Sixty-two percent of the respondents reported that they have been at their current position for less than one year, indicating that their graduate degree may have led to a new job for the graduates," said Paul Perhach, Director of Career Services at the University.

Salaries vary by degree programs as well as geographic location. The highest average salary reported is $83,166 for graduates with master's degrees in nursing, followed by graduates with master's degrees in health administration at $55,348.

Graduates receiving their MBA degrees with a concentration in accounting report the third highest average salary of $55,000. The lowest average salaries reported are $33,333 for graduates with master's degrees in secondary education and $33,620 for graduates with master's degrees in school counseling.

The highest average salary reported by state is $54,142 in New York. The average salary reported for Pennsylvania was $48,053, which is the second highest.

Ninety percent of the graduates employed full-time are working in Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York. Fifty-six percent work in Pennsylvania.

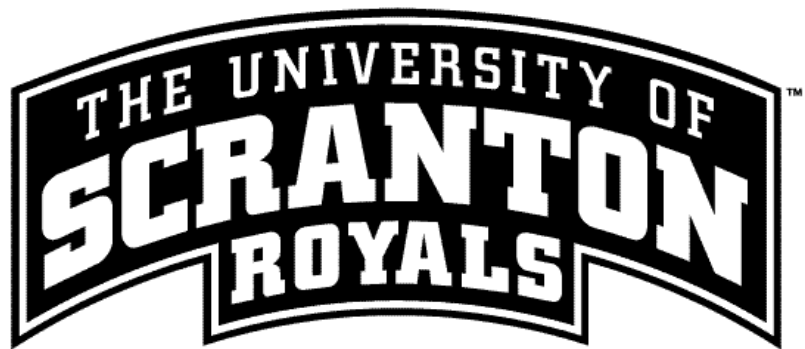

Scranton Area Foundation Supports University of Success

Jeanne Bovard, Executive Director of the Scranton Area Foundation, recently announced a grant in the amount of $7,800 to The University of Scranton in support of the University of Success. Each year, 20 seventh graders are identified for this program, which continues through high school graduation. The University of Success provides mentoring and tutoring in academic, social and cultural opportunities designed to motivate students to complete high school successfully and to enroll in post-secondary education. Students who come from economically disadvantaged circumstances and those with minority backgrounds are encouraged to apply.

STUDENT-ATHLETES HONORED AT AWARDS BANQUET

Six student-athletes received the top awards at the 13th annual Senior Student-Athlete Banquet on May 14 at the Eagen Auditorium in the Gunster Memorial Student Center on campus.

Kyle Eaton (Old Bridge, N.J./Milford Academy-Conn.) and Kate Pierangeli (Springfield/Springfield) received the Frank O'Hara awards, which are presented annually to the top male and female athletes of the senior class. The award is named in honor of Frank O'Hara, a 1925 graduate of the University who had a distinguished career in a variety of roles at the University for more than 50 years.

Receiving the Father Fitzpatrick Award was Katie Szczepanski (Elizabethtown/Lancaster Catholic). Named in honor of the late Reverend John J. Fitzpatrick, S.J., long-time friend and counselor of Royal student-athletes, this award is bestowed upon the student-athlete who has demonstrated outstanding leadership and who has given extraordinary service and contributions to the University of Scranton community and society in general.

The Peter Carlesimo awards were presented to John Barlow (Springfield/St. Joseph's Prep) and Krista Hylinski (Norristown/Kennedy-Kenrick). These awards honor the male and female senior student-athlete who has maintained a 3.5-or-higher cumulative grade point average and has demonstrated athletic excellence in their respective sport or sports.

Judy Flounders (Havertown/Archbishop Carroll) received the Ron Willensky Award, which is presented annually to the senior student-athlete who consistently undertakes to understand and improve the human condition. The award is named in honor of Ron Willensky, a native of Scranton and a 1963 graduate of the University who was a lifelong fan of the Royals and the Lady Royals.

Eaton, a four-year member of the ice hockey team, concluded his career as the Ice Royals' all-time leader in goals (64), assists (101) and total points (165). He was a second-team all-Eastern Collegiate Hockey Association (ECHA) selection in 2003 and honorable mention in 2002 and 2004. In addition to leading the team in scoring in three of his four seasons, he was instrumental in leading Scranton to fourth-place finishes in the ECHA in 2003 and 2004.

Pierangeli excelled in women's basketball and women's lacrosse. As a four-year starter in basketball, she was the recipient of numerous accolades including honorable mention all-American by DIII News (2004) and by Kodak/Women's Basketball Coaches Association (2003, 2004). She was also a first (2003) and second-team (2004) all-Mid-Atlantic region selection by D3hoops.com, second-team all-Eastern College Athletic Conference (ECAC) Southern Division (2003, 2004) and first-team all-Freedom Conference (2002, 2003, 2004). She started 95 of 111 career games and finished 10th in scoring (1,292) and 4th in assists (427) and steals (263) in Scranton history. She led the Lady Royals to a four-year overall record of 95-18 (.841), including two Freedom Conference titles (2002, 2004) and three NCAA Division III tournament appearances (2002-2004).

In lacrosse, Pierangeli earned first-team all-Metro region by the Intercollegiate Women's Lacrosse Coaches Association this past season. She was also named first (2001) & second-team (2003) all-Southern Division by the ECAC and was a first-team all-Middle Atlantic Conference selection three times (2001, 2003, 2004). She started 42 of 43 games in her career and is the Royals' all-time leader in caused turnovers (116), second in draw controls (113) and third in total points (162), goals (104) and assists (58). She was a member of two Middle Atlantic Conference championship and NCAA Division III tournament teams (2003-2004).

Szczepanski, a four-year letter-winner in field hockey, was honored for her numerous on and off-campus activities. In addition to earning first-team all-Freedom Conference honors in 2002 and serving as team captain last fall, she served as a Eucharistic cup minister for Campus Ministry, retreat leader for the field hockey team, tutor for the Learning Resource Center, Princeton Review teacher for the MCAT review course and secretary for the Gamma Sigma Epsilon National Chemistry Honor Society. She was also a member of the Special Jesuits Liberal Arts Program, Alpha Epsilon Delta Pre-Medical Honor Society, Alpha Lambda Delta Honor Society, Phi Sigma Tau Philosophy Honor Society and the Health Professions Organization. She completed a summer research program at Hershey Medical Center, served as a Eucharistic cup minister for St. Peter's Church in Elizabethtown, was an organizer for Carrie's Crusade, a fund-raiser for a student with a de-habilitating disease, and was a four-year volunteer for the Visiting Nurses Association Hospice.

Barlow maintained a 3.76 cumulative grade point average in marketing and philosophy as a four-year member of the men's cross-country team. A three-time member of the Middle Atlantic Conference Academic Honor Roll for fall sports and a 2003 Verizon District II all-Academic second-team selection, he competed in four MAC and NCAA Mideast regional championships. He was a two-time team captain (2002, 2003).

Hylinski, a four-year letter-winner in volleyball, holds a 3.94 cumulative grade point average in physical therapy. She was a first (2003) and second-team (2002) Verizon District II all-Academic selection and was named to the Middle Atlantic Conference Academic Honor Roll for fall sports three times (2001, 2002, 2003). A two-time all-Freedom Conference second-team selection (2001, 2003), she appeared in 124 matches in her career and is second in service aces (186), 3rd in blocks (352), fourth in hitting percentage (.252) and 5th in digs in Scranton history. She was a member of two Freedom Conference (2001, 2003) and NCAA tournament teams (2001, 2003).

Flounders was recognized for her contributions as a retreat leader for campus ministry and as a volunteer with an international service project in Ecuador last summer. As a four-year letter-winner on the women's basketball team, she appeared in 90 career games and finished seventh in 3-point field goals made (71) and ninth in 3-point field goal percentage (.306) in Lady Royals' history. She served as team captain this past season and was a three-time member of the Middle Atlantic Conference Academic Honor Roll for winter sports.

THREE NAMED TO VERIZON/DISTRICT II ALL-ACADEMIC TEAMS

Three University of Scranton spring sport student-athletes were named to two Verizon District II all-Academic teams.

In order to qualify, a student-athlete must be a sophomore, have a cumulative grade point average of 3.2-or-higher and be a key starter or significant reserve. The teams are voted upon by members of the College Sports Information Directors' of America (CoSIDA). District II comprises the states of Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and the District of Columbia.

Seniors Jennifer Miller (Jersey Shore/Jersey Shore) and Shalissa Dougherty (Eynon/Scranton Preparatory) were named first and second-team, respectively, in the sport of softball, while senior Kate Pierangeli was a second-team selection for the at-large team for her role as a member of the women's lacrosse team. The at-large team honors student-athletes who competed in the sports of bowling, golf, rifle, crew, gymnastics, skiing, water polo, fencing, ice hockey, swimming, field hockey, lacrosse and tennis.

Miller, who has been accepted into the College of Veterinary Medicine at the University of Pennsylvania, is a two-time all-Freedom Conference second-team selection (2001, 2004). This past season, she started 22 games and hit .387, with 24 hits, including six doubles, and 12 rbi's. She started 86 of 89 games during her four-year career and finished fifth all-time in Scranton history in hitting (.392) and third in doubles (23). Miller earned a place on the 2001 all-Freedom Conference second-team after hitting .464, which was 48th in the final NCAA Division III statistics that year, and tied a Royals' single-game record with five hits in a game against then FDU-Madison on April 21, 2001.

Dougherty, who has been accepted into the Villanova University School of Law, started 25 of 26 games this past season and hit .326, with five doubles and two triples, to earn second-team all-Freedom Conference honors for the second consecutive year. For her career, she started 95 of 97 games and finished with a .320 batting average, including 12 doubles, five triples and three home runs among her 93 hits. She also finished her career with 35 rbi's and a .426 slugging percentage.

Pierangeli, whose athletic accomplishments have been mentioned above, earned a degree in communication at the University's commencement exercises on May 30.

Six seniors received the top awards at the Senior Student-Athlete Banquet held May 14. From left: John Barlow – men's cross-country, male recipient of the Carlesimo Award for outstanding academic and athletic achievement; Krista Hylinski – volleyball, female recipient of the Carlesimo Award; Judy Flounders – women's basketball, recipient of the Ron Willensky Award for contributions to improve the human condition; Katie Szczepanski – field hockey, recipient of the Father Fitzpatrick Award for community service within the University community and to society in general; Kate Pierangeli – women's basketball and women's lacrosse, female recipient of the Frank O'Hara Award for the outstanding senior athlete; and Kyle Eaton – ice hockey, male recipient of the O'Hara Award.

University of Scranton Students Win Summer Research Positions

Several University of Scranton students are among the select few in the nation who have won sought-after research positions for this summer.

Sophomore neuroscience major Sol De Jesus, Union City, N.J., was one of 32 in the nation to win a competitive summer fellowship in the Center for the Advancement of Hispanics in Science and Engineering's (CAHSEE's) Young Educators Program. The teaching fellowship will involve two weeks of seminars at George Washington University with national leaders, followed by a six week field assignment teaching college level courses to Latino pre-college students in grades 5 through 11.

Junior Han Li, Clarks Summit, will work in the prestigious Undergraduate Biomedical Research Apprenticeship Program at Washington University in St. Louis. Ms. Li is a double major in biochemistry and biomathematics.

Selected from a national applicant pool, junior environmental science major Julie Custer, Portland, Ore., will be going to Cocardie, La., to the Louisiana Universities Marine Consortium field station to do an internship in marine science.

Senior biochemistry major Stephanie Yazinski, Moosic, will be part of a proteomics research team at Youngstown State University, Youngstown, Ohio.

Junior biology and neuroscience major Kunal Patel, Scranton, will work in the Behavioral Neurochemistry Research Laboratory at The Milton S. Hershey Medical Center, Hershey. He will work in an ongoing research project of Dr. Andras Hajnal, assistant professor in the Department of Neural and Behavioral Sciences, at Pennsylvania State University.

Junior neuroscience major Lindsey Schneider, Gouldsboro, will spend 10 weeks this summer doing research work Penn State's Huck Institute for Life Sciences. She will work in the Chemistry Department analyzing brain tissue.

In addition, senior biology major Tina Marie George, Avoca, has received the University of Scranton's Steven R. Sawyer Memorial Research Award. This summer she will work with Timothy Cadigan, S.J., associate professor of biology, to survey the diatom diversity of the Lackawanna River.

One in 1.5 Million: Scranton Student Wins $10,000 Prize in National Sweepstakes

Megan Lucas, a nursing student at The University of Scranton, was the winner of Follett Higher Education Group's "Win A Date With Ted Hamilton" movie sweepstakes. Ms. Lucas received $10,000 as the grand prizewinner.

Students Land Prestigious Internships

Scranton students will hone their skills in communication, business and computer science by working as summer interns at several national and local organizations, including Goldman Sachs, Fox News, Comcast, the Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, and The Scranton Times/Tribune.

The following is a list of students and the companies with which they are interning.

Stacy Surman – CNN, Atlanta, Ga.; Victoria Reid – MTV Networks, New York, N.Y.; Michael Ross – Major League Baseball headquarters, New York, N.Y.; Catherine Brescia – NBC Studios; Michael Hill – The Pocono Record and Dow Jones; Will Taylor – Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, New York, N.Y.

Also, Theresa Biolsi – MacKay Shields, New York, N.Y.; Sarah Shenton – Goldman Sachs, New York, N.Y.; Tiffany Fazio – Fox News, New York, N.Y.; Faraz Khan – Deloitte Touche Tohmatsu, Philadelphia; Steven Cavazzini – Pfizer, Inc., Parsippany, N.J.; Laura Hoban – Comcast CN8, New Castle, Del.; Ryan Tigh – Dateline NBC, New York, N.Y.;

Also, Will Campenni – Scranton Today; Kristin Bellino – WYOU TV-22 News; Edward Britton – The Scranton Times/Tribune; Laurie Arnone – McGrail, Merkel, Quinn and Associates; Robert Palidora – Oldies 92; Jaclyn Panarese – Rock 107; James Marsicano – WVIA.

Students Inducted into Honor Society

The Department of Communication recently inducted students into Lambda Pi Eta, the National Communication Honor Society and its own Alpha Epsilon Alpha. Students need a 3.25 cumulative GPA to be eligible for Lambda Pi Eta and 3.5 for Alpha Epsilon Alpha.
